The Program

This up-to-date legal ethics seminar explores the special ethics threats facing today's practitioners, in general and specialized practice and in organizational settings; how to avoid them, how to plan for them when they can't be avoided, and how to react when specific dangerous situations appear.

The interactive course explores emerging and troubling legal ethics problems that mere rules cannot always solve, and the tension between being an ethical lawyer while remaining an ethical citizen and human being.

This seminar has received top evaluations from both bar associations and law firm participants, particularly for the lively discussions it has generated, its foray into unsettled areas of legal ethics and its interaction with business and society.

Some of the many issues explored:

- ♦When lawyers can stop disasters
- ♦Confidentiality and harming a former client
- ♦When non-legal activities collide with the practice of law
- ♦The limits of loyalty
- ♦Foreign lawyer traps
- ♦"Who is the client?" dilemmas
- ♦Business vs Professionalism in the law
- ♦The client who sued herself
- ♦Perils of the technology J-curve
- ♦Social media perils for attorneys ... and more.

The Instructor

Jack Marshall is the president and founder of ProEthics, Ltd., and the primary writer and editor of the ethics commentary blog, Ethics Alarms (www.ethicsalarms.com). He has taken the experience gleaned from a diverse career in law, public policy, academia and theater and applied it to the field of legal, business and organizational ethics. Over 18 years he has developed more than 200 programs for bar associations, law firms, Fortune 500 companies, non-profit organizations, trade associations and local and national government agencies. In addition, he has worked to develop rules of professional responsibility for attorneys in emerging African democracies through the International Bar Association, for the new judiciary of the Republic of Mongolia through USAID, and as ethics counsel to US law firms. With Pulitzer Prize-winning historian Edward Larson, he compiled and edited The Essential Words and Writing of Clarence Darrow (Random House, 2007).

A member of the Massachusetts and D.C. Bars, Mr. Marshall has been on the adjunct faculty of the Washington College of Law at the American University in Washington, DC. Marshall is a graduate of Harvard College and Georgetown University Law Center. His articles and essays on topics ranging from leadership and ethics to popular culture have appeared in numerous national and regional publications, and he has appeared on a variety of talk shows to discuss ethics and public policy, from Neil Cavuto's "Your World" to NPR's "Tell Me More" and "Religion and Ethics Weekly."
