Judge's error of law is 'mistake' under rule allowing reopened judgments, Supreme Court rules - A judge's error of law is a "mistake" within the meaning of the federal rule that allows judgments to be reopened, subject to a one-year statute of limitations, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled Monday. The high court ruled in the case of Dexter Kemp, who argued that a judge's mistaken ruling in his drug and guns case isn't subject to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 60(b) (1) and its one-year filing requirement. Kemp had sought to reopen his judgment because of a judge's error in ruling on the timeliness of his motion to vacate his sentence. Pa. House Judiciary Committee Chair introduces constitutional amendment to establish civil case venue - The Chairman of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives Judiciary Committee has introduced legislation to amend Pennsylvania's constitution to prohibit venue shopping in medical liability cases, a potential game-changer for civil litigation statewide if it were to be passed. Bankruptcy legislation update: House passes Bill preserving $7.5 million eligibility threshold for Subchapter V; legislation ready for Biden's signature - The House has passed a bill that will now go to the President to sign into law that raises the eligible debt ceiling for Subchapter V of Chapter 11 to $7,500,000. Small businesses with up to $7,500,000 in noncontingent, liquidated debts will once again be eligible for relief under Subchapter V for another two years. The ceiling was previously raised to $7,500,000 as part of the CARES Act in 2020, but lapsed back to $3,024,725 as of April 1, 2022. Hourly employees allege they were not paid for pre-shift work - Two Pennsylvania-based retail merchandising product and service companies are facing a class action alleging they violated state and federal wage laws. Frederick, according to his suit, began working for the defendants as a merchandiser in June of 2017. He alleges his job duties include building and reconfiguring in-store displays, inventory and re-stocking and that merchandisers plan their day and review work emails from home to determine their daily assignments. He also alleges merchandisers are required to do other pre-shift work including gathering and purchasing supplies without being reimbursed and traveling to the various field site locations in their own personal vehicles. Frederick further alleges he was required to clock out and then perform other duties such as cleaning up, communicating with client representatives and completing reports. He alleges that his pre-shift duties amounted to 10 hours per week that were "off-the-clock" and that he and other merchandisers were not paid for those hours in violation of state and federal wage laws. Textual tension - What happens when it turns out that the "plain meaning" of a text isn't all that plain after all? Justices Neil Gorsuch and Amy Coney Barrett are self-described originalists and textualists, but their reading of texts in three recent decisions drove them to opposite conclusions. Two statutory interpretation rulings and one constitutional decision provide a snapshot of Barrett versus Gorsuch. Barrett led the majority in all three, while Gorsuch led the dissent, aligning with liberal justices in two, and soloing in a third.
